Mr. Dan Rustin
Associate Editor
Publishers' Weekly
1180 Avenue of the Americas
New York 36, New York

Dear Mr. Rustin:

I have just seen a copy of Publishers' Weekly in which you reviewed the Research and Engineering Council's Conference on Computerized Typesetting held March 2 and 3 in Washington, D. C. We are quite impressed with the fine coverage you gave this conference and the use you made of the material which we sent you on Mr. Kunkel's talk.

We could use a dozen or more copies of reprints of this material and would appreciate receiving as many copies as you could make available to us. If you do not have reprints available for this type of distribution, would it be possible to furnish us with several copies of the magazine so that we could make our own reprints?

Very truly yours,
